
CMC and Willmore surfaces in asymptotically flat manifolds

PAUL LAURAIN

Constant Mean Curvature surfaces (CMC) play a crucial role in General Relativity. After remembering the state of art, I will discuss some improvement about the uniqueness of such objects. Then I will speak about some generalisations to Willmore surfaces and the notion of quasi-local mass.

Université de Paris VII (Denis Diderot), France