

VLMC are probabilistic sources. The distributions of the successive drawings depend from the past, the needed memory having a variable – not bounded – length. From the question of the existence of stationary measures arises a combinatorial structure on finite words: the longest internal suffix. After having defined this, a general result on invariant measures will be stated. The particular case of stable trees will be evoked, improving results on semi-Markov chains.