

The aim of this first thematic session is to discuss how to scale the equations of quantum dynamics and which is the role of a semi-classical parameter, and its interest. A special emphasis will be made on the chemists point of view. The session consists in an introductory talk followed by several short interventions, combined with unformal discussions around.